working together
partnerships

We maintain valuable community partnerships to help promote safety, and keep safety education opportunities accessible to workers and employers.

Northern Safety Association

To demonstrate our commitment to workplace safety, we partnered with the Northwest Territories Construction Association. This partnership resulted in the Northern Safety Association (NSA).

NSA supports the Certificate of Recognition (COR) principles. It's a process where company representatives complete a set of educational safety courses to equip them with the necessary knowledge and resources to develop and implement effective safety programs. The COR program allows the construction industry to develop standards from existing regulatory requirements, and encourages them to build a strong safety culture.

The NSA offers job-specific safety training to Northern employers and workers. This safety training helps improve the safety cultures of construction and construction-related industries.

The NSA helps us further our vision to eliminate workplace diseases and injuries. It helps educate Northern workers and employers about the importance of workplace safety and emphasizes zero tolerance for workplace injuries and illnesses.

Northern Territories Federation of Labour

Partnering with the Northern Territories Federation of Labour (NTFL), we fund a training program that supports our prevention focus, and helps achieve the goal to develop well-trained, safety conscious workers through an injury prevention culture.

The NTFL delivers three courses in the Northwest Territories and Nunavut: Understanding Workers' Compensation, Introducing Return to Work, and Developing Return to Work Programs. The NTFL provides an estimated 2,000 workers in the Northwest Territories and NU with introductory training in these areas.

Skills Canada

Workplace incidents do not just happen. They are preventable. Young workers need to know this. Teaching prevention at an early age helps inform the next generation of workers and future employers about their rights and responsibilities.

Our partnership with Skills Canada helps to educate Northern youth about the importance of workplace safety. Skills Canada provides a venue for us to educate the next generation of workers through its annual Territorial and National Skills competitions. We engineer and evaluate the components of the Territorial Safety Competitions.
