
Same Lifestyle, Different Parallel

The Workers' Safety & Compensation Commission (WSCC) is hiring a

Chief Medical Advisor

for the Northwest Territories and Nunavut

Great Benefits

- Competitive Salary
- Signing and Retention Bonuses
- Northern Allowances
- Dental and Medical Plans
- Retirement Benefits
- Relocation Assistance
- Five Weeks Vacation
- Two Weeks Paid CME
- Twelve Statutory Holidays
- Regular Work Hours
- No Night or Weekend Calls
- Travel

Looking for a new opportunity without compromising comfort?

A day in Yellowknife can take you kayaking or sailing, lunching on an island, dropping by a friend's houseboat, watching live outdoor music, and finishing off with a barbeque under the midnight sun. That same day can find you cruising on Great Slave Lake in a yacht, meeting friends for lunch overlooking the water, visiting one of the galleries, dining at a fine restaurant, and taking in a stage show. And that's just the summer.

As the Chief Medical Advisor, you are part of the WSCC Medical Clinic. Along with working in the fields of disability management and occupational medicine, you will participate in and consult on national workshops and initiatives as the representative of the two territories. There is a significant clinical component to this position that involves assessing the causes of work-related injuries and diseases, monitoring treatments, assessing impairments, and assisting injured workers to return to work.

We consider physicians with workers' compensation, occupational, rehabilitation, or sports medicine experience with at least five years of active practice experience strong candidates.

For further enquiries, please contact:

Kim Collins-Riffel
Vice President, Client and Central Services
Email: kim.collins-riffel@wscc.nt.ca
Phone: (867) 920-3821
Toll free: 1 (800) 661-0792

Our Mission:

PROMOTE WORKPLACE SAFETY AND CARE FOR INJURED WORKERS

WSCC Workers' Safety & Compensation Commission

www.wscc.nt.ca 1.800.661.0792 www.wscc.nu.ca 1.877.404.4407